ChromaLuxe Experiential Environments

ChromaLuxe experiential environments give customers a personal and interactive experience, leaving lasting impressions that transform them into brand ambassadors. In a world full of competing visual cues, the right materials are essential to make your brand stand out above the rest.

HIGH-IMPACT PERFORMANCE

At ChromaLuxe we use dye sublimation to provide high-definition, durable photo panels that will preserve images for generations to come. Our color depth and vibrancy are second-to-none in creating showstopping pieces perfect for events, exhibitions, and experiential environments.

Based on consumer testing, our metal prints have 10-times the stopping power over direct surface printed rigid media. ChromaLuxe high-definition print media will transform any commercial interior into a luxurious, world-class design experience.

MATERIAL EXPERTISE

ChromaLuxe coatings add an extra measure of vibrancy and protection to the art and photography your clients desire. Instead of printing images directly on a surface, which may scratch easily, sublimation printing infuses the image into our proprietary coating to create incredible depth, detail and durability.

Our new ChromaLuxe textured panels are both glare-free and fingerprint resistant, perfect for long-lasting durability in high traffic areas. The dimensional surface gives the prints a unique tactile feel, while delivering the scratch and abrasion resistance our panels are known for. These maintenance ready surfaces make our products an excellent match for high-traffic and interactive installations.

FROM SCIENCE TO ART

With our patented coatings, 20 points of inspection to guarantee fidelity, and a reproduction color gamut that is the broadest in the industry, we command attention when used as a premium alternative to traditional direct printed materials.

Substrates are available with a variety of coatings to create stunning visual pieces. Large format printing is made affordable by joining panels together to create any size wall mural, making it easy to incorporate into the experiential environment marketplace.

Whether your installation needs printed furniture, display signage or wall décor, our environmentally friendly, high-quality substrates are sure to impress. Visit us online or connect with us to learn how you can incorporate these award-winning products into your next brand experience.
